This state-wide event stimulates small business development and rural community growth throughout rural Colorado. 400-500 participants are expected to attend this years event.

The MarketPlace assists in growing rural Colorado's economy from within through this annual entrepreneurial event. It is the means by which to promote entrepreneurial growth throughout all of Colorado. It is recognized throughout the state as the pivotal resource for emerging entrepreneurs, as well as established entrepreneurs. It has resulted in increased entrepreneurial activity, job growth, and community growth that can be used by entrepreneurs.

Colorado Rural Development Council

(CRDC) is a private, nonprofit organization committed to influencing positive economic change in rural Colorado. We do this by advancing rural interests, listening to our constituents and responding to their needs through collaboration, creative partnerships, and helping rural communities to access resources they need to accomplish their own community visions. CRDC is committed to opening new doors of opportunity for Rural Colorado communities and businesses.
