

THE INSTITUTE

COLORADO BIOSCIENCE

Committee Overview:

The Colorado BioScience Institute (The Institute) and its Education Committee is tasked with expanding educational opportunities, workforce development and community awareness. The Institute was launched as a 501(c)(3) organization to enhance education, training, awareness, and evaluation for the bioscience industry in Colorado.

Expectations and Purpose:

- Provide educators with practical knowledge and experience to enhance their classroom, specifically related to STEM
- Provide programs for researchers, entrepreneurs and business leaders to build businesses and advance their careers in the bioscience industries
- Provide classes, trainings, programs, internships and scholarships as a form of workforce recruitment and development
- Develop awareness of the bioscience industry by providing an understanding of STEM workforce opportunities and the educational path to provide for career development
- Provide brainstorming ideas and contacts for fundraising efforts

How to Get Involved:

If you are interested in joining the Education Committee, please contact Meg John, Program Director, at mjohn@cobioscience.com or 303-749-0078.

Meeting Schedule:

The Education Committee meets three times per year, based on timing and implementation of strategic goals and initiatives.

Education

Chair: Nicole Garneau, PhD

Curator and Department Chair
Health Sciences Department
Denver Museum of Nature & Science

ngarneau@dmns.org

Staff: Meg John

mjohn@cobioscience.com
303-749-0078